UGL wins $270 million in infrastructure projects

Sydney: UGL Limited (ASX: UGL) (“UGL”) is pleased to confirm its infrastructure business has been awarded a number of significant projects across Australia and New Zealand with a total end value of $270 million.

These new infrastructure projects are distributed across a range of market segments with both new and existing customers. UGL is to deliver the following projects:

- A new 5-year Infrastructure Modernisation Program Alliance (UGL, GHD & John Holland) with Murrumbidgee Irrigation for the planning and delivery of various irrigation improvement projects in regional New South Wales;
- A number of new power systems projects for Powerlink including the Western Downs to Halys 275kV powerline and the 275kV Western Downs switching station in Queensland;
- A new Orange Switching Station for TransGrid, along with replacement of aging assets at the existing Orange Substation in New South Wales;
- A new rail signaling project through the Synergy Alliance (UGL, Ansaldo STS & QR National) as part of the QR National Gap 50 Project between Bogie River and Riverside for QR National in Queensland; and
- An upgrade of the Tahuna Waste Water Treatment Plant for the Dunedin City Council in New Zealand.

UGL’s Managing Director and CEO, Richard Leupen, said: “These significant wins further demonstrate the depth of UGL’s infrastructure capability as well as our ability to provide proven, innovative and flexible solutions for our customers across the region.

UGL continues to achieve growth in the infrastructure market supported by our leadership position in the water, energy, transport and communications service industries.”

UGL Infrastructure provides design, construction, engineering, operational and maintenance services to the water, power, transport, road systems, defence and communications sectors.
